WALES' WANDERINGS.

THE PRINCE IN EUROPE FOR GERMANY
THEN INTO IRELAND.

Tragedy at Rotterdam—Wolsey Governor
General of the Sudan—Prince Albert a Mason—Long Session—Way
Notes—Foreign News.

THE PRINCE OF WALES.

London, March 18.—The Prince of Wales will have his fill of pageantry during the next two months. He starts for Berlin immediately, accompanied by his brother, the duke of Edinburgh, and his son, Prince Albert Victor. The occasion of this princely visit to Germany is the eighty-eighth birthday of Emperor William, which is to be celebrated with great pomp next Sunday.

The representation of England on this occasion will be grand, as it will be the first time in the history of the country that the heir-apparent and the heir-presumptive of the British throne have been on German soil at the same time. The attendance of the duke of Edinburgh is also somewhat significant. He is the only one of the Queen's sons who has shown a strong predilection for naval or in fact for any kind of warlike life. He is the captain of the pet squadron of the British navy and the husband of the only daughter of the late Russian Czar. He is also a major general in the Prussian army. His absence from the fleet which he commands could not seriously impair its efficiency, but some of the newspaper men or critics think that so distinguished a naval commander might be better engaged on the eve of a war with Russia than in displaying attentions to the German king because that p-t-august has had a good fortune to live through his eighty-seventh year.

The ways of the whig and radical press concerning the princess and the prince of Wales are not likely to change. They say that Lord Granville's apologetic speech and the parading of all the available English princess at Germany's chariot wheels show that Prince Albert has accomplished his purpose of convincing England that she may play second fiddle in the European orchestra.

As soon as the Prince of Wales escape from Berlin England will have to hurry back to England to embark for Ireland. Great preparations are being made for his reception in Ireland and the festivities will be very elaborate, although they will be chiefly protocol and participated in by the nobility. The question of what processions will be the gaudy ones of Earl Spencer's cavalcade during all the time they remain in Ireland. When they visit the south of Ireland their headquarters will be at the Earl of Kinnear's seat, Killarney House, Killarney, and their new home will be at the hotel, Holland. Suddenly a shot was heard from their apartment. On entering the startled attendant dashed the pistol dead from a pistol shot by his friend, companion, and he slightly wounded a third. He was severely inflicted. It has been learned that the woman was formerly M. Newman's mistress and had been cast off by him upon his marriage.

Prince Albert to Be Made a Mason.
London, March 18.—Prince Albert, Victor is initiated into Freemasonry. The Prince of Wales, as master of the Royal Alpha lodge, performed the ceremony. He initiated himself and his son, the Duke of York, into the order. Prince Albert Victor will be the seventeenth member of the royal family who has joined the craft since 1737, when the eldest son of George II was initiated.

The Soudan.

London, March 18.—The British officials at Cairo are urging the government to appoint Gen. Wolsey governor-general of the Soudan. The government must now make the arrangements as it would provide for the British in the Soudan beyond the limits at present intended by the government.

Long Session.

London, March 18.—The house of commons was still in session at 5:30 this morning. The prolongation of the session was caused by the tactics of the Irish party, who opposed the motion of the government to adjourn the house upon the adoption of a vote by a majority of the house that such motions in proceedings, however, were conducted in the most orderly manner.

Indians Ready.

London, March 18.—In an address in the city last night, a chief of the Ojibway Ldians of British North America, a branch of the Algonquin tribe, said that if called upon to march, he and his tribe would rise immediately and march at the call's notice in defense of the British empire.

Rising on 1st Put's Day.

Dublin, March 18.—The rising on 1st Put's Day, last, rioters wrecked a house containing noxious persons. Bans of outlawry covered the streets and great excitement prevailed.

Steamer Seized.

London, March 18.—The foreign office informed that the British steamer Surat, of the Peninsular and Oriental line, has been searched by a French man-of-war in Chinese waters.

Concentrating Forces.

London, March 18.—Reliable authorities state that the Panama revolution is ended.

China.

Paris, March 18.—It is rumored that Germany will mediate between France and China.

Further Mail Facilities.

London, March 18.—The government has provided £20,000 for extra mail facilities with America.

Foreign Notes.

The Paris press of politics has issued a decree forbidding the display of red banner during public ceremonies.

Detachments of police were sent to the north of Ireland, where demonstrations in honor of St. Patrick are expected.

The house of lords the government stated had given him freely given advice and assistance to Australia, for the formation of a colonial navy.

THE WARRIOR WARRIORS.

General Grant Almost Chokes to Death on a Pill.

New York, March 18.—Gen. Grant passed an exceedingly bad night. He went to bed after his throat was treated by Dr. Douglas, but could not sleep. At 12 o'clock in order to induce sleep he sent for him to his throat. We allow it is still fast in his throat. It caused a severe coughing spell, and the pill could not be forced up or down.

The exertion irritated his throat greatly and added to the mental anxiety that has already kept him awake. He tossed and moaned all night long, and could not fall asleep at daylight as he has done heretofore when he was unable to sleep during the night. He remained in bed all the forenoon and did not get up again. His throat was more inflamed. He was considerably during the twenty-four hours.

During the exertion of the night he was engaged on the eve of a war with Russia that he would have to go to sleep well.

LATER.—Gen. Grant Got a Pill.

Dr. Douglas made an early call on the patient, evidently the result of conflicting and startling reports regarding the general's condition. Dr. Douglas would not say that he was in danger. He was considerably during the afternoon, but got only a little rest during the twenty-four hours.

When Dr. Douglas called, Gen. Grant was having a quiet chat with a few friends, among them Dr. Newman, and seemed to be bright mentally, though physically depressed. Before going to bed Dr. Douglas gave him a narcotic, even though the general said he felt as if he would sleep well.

Sous of Erin's Green Isle in Parading

Prayer.

Quarantine, March 18.—Quarantine was caused here through Arushapool. Tas-haroon writing a letter to the Irish national association, prohibiting them from carrying the American flag on the ground that the action might be misunderstood and taken as an attack on our country.

The American flag was carried on the ground upon the receipt of the letter when the meeting was called and the matter was discussed. Mr. M. A. Hourn, Q. C., president of the association, was appointed a committee to call a meeting to discuss the matter.

Suddenly a shot was heard from their apartment. On entering the startled attendant dashed the pistol dead from a pistol shot by his friend, companion, and he slightly wounded a third. He was severely inflicted. It has been learned that the woman was formerly M. Newman's mistress and had been cast off by him upon his marriage.

MR. ARTHUR VISITS MR. CLEVELAND
AT THE WHITE HOUSE.

New York Millionaire Request Mr. Arthur's Presence at a Delmonico's
Banquet—Wined and Dined.
Politics—Capital Chatter.

Washington, March 18.—Ex-President Arthur made a social call upon President Cleveland. He was driven to the white house in the carriage of Mr. Frelinghuysen, whose guest he is, and was at once ushered into the presence of the president, who gave him a cordial greeting. The visit lasted about half an hour. The president had been expected to witness the performance at Alhambra's opera house by Theo, but went instead to hear Henry Ward Beecher lecture. In anticipation of his visit to the theater, the president had set apart for the presidential party had been handsomely decorated with the American colors. Secretary and Mrs. Manning and Mrs. Col. Lamont, however, occupied one of the boxes, and the secretary was frequently mistaken for the president.

The Arthur Banquet.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—Ex-President Arthur received a call from Senator Evans and Mrs. Hough N. Camp and L. Bailey Meyer, who told him they appeared as the representatives of a large number of prominent merchants and business men of New York. They then handed the ex-president a letter signed by 250 gentlemen, without regard to party affiliations, cordially inviting him to dine with them at Delmonico's on such a date as would be most convenient to him. The guests were to be invited to the Arthur Banquet.

And Gives Guatemala Fair Warning as to Her Recent Actions.

New York, March 18.—James R. Board, secretary of the Central and South American telegraph company, states that he has received advice to the effect that the authorities in Mexico, San Salvador and Nicaragua have closed the cables of that company, and the following telegram from Secretary of State Bayard shows that the United States government is determined to protect American interests in Central America.

"A Cabinet Minister's Time.

Washington, March 18.—One of the most popular cabinet ministers is about to go, said: "I suppose the government will save $300 or $400 a year by the reforms Secretary Lamar and Attorney General Garfield have instituted by disposing of the departmental carriage and the like. I should think the cost of a cabinet minister would be worth as much as the time of a horse. The country pays a man $8,000 a year, or about $30 a day, the assumption being that he is valuable, and now we are going to pay him the same whether he goes to the White House, or the Capitol, or some other department that he shall walk or take a street car, either of which involves a considerable sum of time. After this, we will get rid of the unnecessary expenses that will be found in the government business, demands carriages for the heads of departments, especially as the public offices are scattered all over town. We had to go to one day to see the head of one department, and another to see the head of another, and so on. This is a good deal of time saved by having a carriage to ride in. Possibly my time isn't worth much, but it ought to be, considering the position I hold and the price the government pays for my time. I do not believe that Secretary of War is going to be affected by this. He is a good man, and will follow the example of the frugal southern members of the cabinet."

On Phil Thompson's Verdict.

LOUISVILLE, KY., March 18.—On the defeat of Phil Thompson and the appointment of Mr. Miller for commissioner of internal revenue, Mr. Watson says:

"I am not prepared to meet the defeat of Phil Thompson, nor the deterioration of his position, nor the appointment of Mr. Miller, of West Virginia, as evidence that it is the purpose of the administration to reduce internal revenue taxes with a view more than one-third of the expenses of the government, and without which there could be no adequate reduction of custom house duties."

"It will be given out, of course, that this, that however, will depend altogether upon future developments. If the president allies himself to Mr. Randall, he will do it openly and in full, and I am afraid he will do it with a broad split of the party, and a new array of political forces. We want no conflict and shall do all in our power to avoid it. But if, against the protest of an overwhelming majority of democrat, should come into power the advocates of a sound and honest revenue system will not be found unopposed.

Democrats Caucuses.

Dover, Del., March 18.—There has been a great deal of wire pulling and log-rolling over the senatorial succession, and everybody expected a stubborn contest in caucus, but everybody was disappointed. It was a foregone conclusion that Mr. Chapman, of Wilmington, would lead in the race with Congressmen Love and ex-Congressman Martin neck and neck for second place, and there was some talk of Judge Weston, but he never got into the race. Dr. Chawner was called to the chair, and the whole matter was settled inside of an hour. Two ballots were cast, the first resulting Gray 13, Love 9, Martin 5. The second ballot gave Gray 15, Love 9, Martin 5. The nomination was then made unanimous.

An apparently well founded rumor at the capital says that the president has intimated to certain United States senators that there is no disposition on his part to send to the senate during the special session any but the most important and necessary nominations.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., March 18.—Frank McDonald, who had been offered to a seat on the supreme bench, accepted.

Mr. McDonald left his touring bay horses in Little Rock, and took a team of his own to drive his carriage.

McDonald will be a candidate for senator, to succeed Mr. Harrison, if not tempted by a seat on the supreme bench.

Mr. McDonald will remain in Little Rock till the latter should buy a team of his own.

THE DAILY BULLETIN.
WEDNESDAY, MARCH 18, 1885.

The Senate has confirmed General Black as Commissioner of Pensions.

The receipts of the Damrosch German Opera Company, at Chicago, for twenty-one performances, were $73,000.

The government has asked the mediation of the United States with France is denied.

Tax office seekers who returned from the Capital got something at least—the Washingtonague, better known as the cold shake.

GEO. A. GRAY, Attorney General of Delaware, has been nominated by the Democrats of the Legislature to succeed Senator Bayard.

SECRETARY LAMAR and Attorney General Garland have ordered the sale of the carriage and carriage horses used in their departments.

The slight changes recently in the miners' strike at Pittsburg are regarded in favor of the miners, and the latter confidently expect that some compromise measures will be proposed.

GENERAL GRANT is said to view the progress of his disease with indifference, facing death now with the same stolidity he did on the battle field twenty years ago. His attitude on religious matters is said to be one of unconcern.

JAMES G. BLAINE, the despatches say, is to be entertained at the White House. When he gets his legs under the oiled walnut he will probably appreciate the force of the lines:

"All sad words of tongue or pen,
The saddest are these—it might have been."

The latest news of the condition of General Grant is that he is in a very critical state, and his dissolution may be expected at any time. He is suffering great pain, and though physically depressed, is bright mentally. His death was reported Monday afternoon, but was contradicted later.

From Washington comes the announcement that President Cleveland is considering the advisability of revoking the recent order of President Arthur throwing open the Winnebago reservation in Dakota. At least a million suffering patriots would be better pleased if Mr. Cleveland would revoke a former order of President Arthur, throwing open to Republicans the office reservation of the country.

The strike by the employees of the Gould system of railroads against a reduction of wages, has been peacefully and satisfactorily ended by the authorities restoring the strikers to their original pay, and traffic has been resumed at all points. The result is taken as an evidence of the revival of business, and prospect of a profitable carrying trade by the roads the present season, otherwise there would have been a long and bitter fight to carry the ends of the railroad owners.

The failure of Hon. Phil B. Thompson in the contest for Commissioner of Internal Revenue is a disappointment to his friend at home and in the country at large. His fitness for the place was not disputed, and it is said that the President and three if not four of his cabinet favored the appointment. Secretary Manning alone opposed him, at the request of Mr. Randall, who wished to control in his own interest the distribution of the patronage of the office. That his influence with the Secretary of the Treasury was powerful enough to set aside the wishes of four cabinet officers, the Speaker of the House of Representatives and the Representatives of twenty-six States, is a pointer that is not easily misunderstood, and suggests the question whether an honest and efficient collection of the revenue taxes of the country is desired. Mr. Thompson takes his defeat philosophically, and says that as Mr. Randall owed him nothing he could not blame him for knifing him to the heart if he saw fit.

And That Too.

(Wall Street News.)

A Boston man got hold of a Westerner in hopes of getting some consolation out of the look of affairs toward sundown, but the man promptly replied:

"Well, things have just squatted out our way."

"Won't wheat look up a little, eh?"

"Not a look."

"Any new enterprises?"

"Not so much as building a wood-shed."

Being Trial Ended.

AUSTIN, Tex., March 18.—All the cases pending in the United States court against the Standard Oil Company of Texas must stand for the northern district of Texas, recently released from the Chester penitentiary, was yesterday dismissed on motion of the United States attorney. This ends his long litigation with the government. He will soon commence the practice of law in northern Texas.

"Well there must be some business in the West which holds its own," persisted the Bostonian. "How's matrimony?"

"I should smile! They even hire folks to help 'em grow!"

"Isn't the railroad business a little more favorable?"

"Yes, they manage to run the trains, but that's about all."

"Well there must be some business in the West which holds its own," persisted the Bostonian.

"How's matrimony?"

"I'm afraid I can't answer."

"A year ago you could have married anything and anybody and counted on 6 per cent. dividends, but the general impression has flattened matrimony until a widow worth twenty thousand dollars has got to hunt with a gun."

Row Gen. Grant sword.

[Dr. E. D. Kilts in Inter-Ocean.]
I mention a short paragraph a few days ago referring to Gen. Grant's health, having been to know him personally well, having been with one of his staff at different times during the war, and I never once heard him make use of any word that could be called vulgar. The article "dog-in-it." The article reminded me of a little incident that came to my notice at Memphis just previous to the general's going to Young's Point, above Vicksburg. I was staying with a friend, who, upon my arrival, when a dispatch arrived which provoked Gen. Rawlins, the chief of staff, and with Rawlins ready to the general, and with some pretty rough oaths urged him to take summary justice upon a prominent general who had, I believe, disobeyed or transgressed orders.

The general, in his good-humored way, turned to me and asked: "Do you know what I keep in my pocket?" I replied he was in it on account of his valuable services.

"It tell you what for. I never swear myself, so keep it for me when occasion arises." The time I refer to was about 1863 or 1864, at Fort

Ky., on our route to Knoxville, when a certain mule contractor wanted to escort the general through the town with a band of men to avoid which we got out of the hotel by a back way, and drove off to the Louisville train.

After being seated in the car the man came and stood to remonstrate with Gen. Grant for giving him the slip. The general was angry and annoyed and said: "Dog-on-it, sir, do you want to show us around like a circus?"

Burlesque Not Spontaneous.

[New York Letter.]

The funny burlesque of Grant that has lately been confounded to me was that of an actress who has been off the stage for a year or two previous to the present week, but who may be recalled as a little woman with a small, ugly, but winsome, and wonderful ability in mimicry.

"Have you ever seen—"

The value of stolen property reported to the chief of police of the District of Columbia had been doubled out into her hands.

The winks and oglers usual to burlesque had not been displaced since last in use, and a cylinder of fresh music was adjusted to her repertoire.

The essential things were there, but they were perfectly adjusted and regulated.

The pretty gestures were cut out of com with the puns, the kicks were ill-timed to the verses of the song, and as a result the audience was not satisfied.

The manager of the burlesque was in entire accord with the rest of the company.

After witnessing the slow process of harmonizing a couplet, doggerel, a skip of the feet, a weaving of the arms, a pout of the lips, and the right hand side of the face, so that all worked simultaneously, I concluded that burlesque isn't spontaneous as might be supposed on seeing it performed.

Rules of Antietam.

CUMBERLAND, Md., March 18.—Mr. Cornelius Smith, of Pleasant Valley, near here, has the contract for sawing into lumber a large number of logs from the battle-field of Antietam. He says all kinds of logs, from beams to shingles, are almost entirely not with in the timber, and that it is really dangerous to stand near the saws in his mills when such lumber is being cut, a striking iron shot imbedded in the log, a saw a the other day, and a perfect shower of sparks rained down from the two logs, which had been finally snapped in pieces.

In another instance a grape-stem wire had been twisted out into the hands of the miss. Many leaden bullets, which offer little or no resistance, are revealed in boards and planks.

Bolter Explosion.

MARSHFIELD, Pa., March 18.—Mahoney Engine & Manufacturing Co., here, was the scene of a terrible boiler explosion. Lawrence & Brown's coal breaker is situated on the slope of a high mountain and contains a nest of twenty-three boilers, which were all in operation, when one of them exploded, driving the iron in every direction.

The explosion was heard for miles around. A dozen men were standing nearby and they were buried out of their feet.

Three men were hit by flying pieces from the boiler, and ten others were thrown down the mountain side for some distance and awfully mangled. Jacob Dugan and John Crawford and Frederick Smith cannot live. Until the damage is repaired several hundred men will be out of work.

The national convention of tanners and dealers in hides and leather convened in Cincinnati Monday morning. There were representatives from various parts of the United States and Europe.

The Plain Dealer, locally newspaper of Washington, D. C., has been sold, Eliza W. Fox, formerly of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, representing the purchasers. He will be manager of the new enterprise.

The Grace Hawthorne dramatic company will appear at the opera house on Monday and Tuesday evenings March 23rd and 24th in the plays "The New Camille" and "Queens." The troupe has been still playing to good houses at Cincinnati.

THE BULLETIN can testify that the ladies of the Southern Methodist Church of Chester know how to make cake, candy and other good things. We express this opinion after tasting specimens of their work which have been kindly sent to this office.

This candy pulling given by the ladies of the Southern Methodist Church at Chester, proved to be such a pleasant affair that by request it will be repeated next Saturday evening in the room over Schatzmann's confectionery store in East Mayfield. Everybody is invited.

Dr. N. W. Tracy has been lecturing to crowded houses at Mt. Sterling and at the four meetings which have thus far been held something over six hundred persons signed the pledge of temperance. Curley the plumber has lately fitted up an apartment at his store on Second street for the purpose of showing bat tubs, stationary washstands, etc. The wood work of a bathing tub and washstand he is now exhibiting was made by the Mayfield Manufacturing Company and is fine work. DEPUTY SHERIFF STEWART BUMGARTEN, of Rowan County, was killed on the 15th inst., on one of the roads four miles from Morehead, by some person in ambush. Twenty buckshot lodged in his body killing him instantly. The killing is said to be the direct outgrowth of a quarrel between Floyd Tolliver and John Martin, at Morehead at the last August election, which resulted a few weeks ago in Martin killing Tolliver and the death of the latter at the hands of Tolliver's friends. Great excitement prevails in Rowan County and other bloody deeds are expected to follow.

Carnival at the Rink.

A very large and select audience assembled at the rink last night to witness the Fancy Dress Carnival of the Mayville Musical Club. The whole affair passed off smoothly and reflected credit upon those in charge. While there were but few elaborate costumes on the floor, there was a happy variety in the make-ups, which made an agreeable sight. As the merry-makers glided over the floor to the strains of music as disbursed by Stieley's orchestra, we caught the following names and characters:

Mrs. B. D. Phister, ghost.
Miss A. Watson, snow.
Miss A. Stockton, a señorita.
Miss Mattie Stockton, gipsy.
Miss Mary Stockton, a贵妇人.
Miss Laura Hanson, peasant.
Miss Jessie Morgan, matin.

Miss Mamie Pierce, Little French peasant.
Miss Maggie Wheeler, evening dress.

What They do in New Orleans Now-a-days.

The great crowds in New Orleans, at the exposition, liberally contributed the audience present at the 177th grand monthly drawing of the Louisiana State Lottery, on Tuesday, February 10th.

The sum of $265,500 was fairly placed by the hand of fortune where it probably will do the most good. As sample bricks, how the goddess treats her votaries, we note that ticket No. 28,600 drew the first capital prize of $75,000, and was as whole to a resident of San Francisco, Cal., and collected through the Nevada Bank of that city. Ticket No. 84,414 drew the second capital prize of $25,000, and was sold to a party at New Orleans, La., visiting the exposition probably. Ticket No. 1,735 drew the third capital prize of $10,000, and sold in fifth on Reuben Joel, 62 Monroe street, Lynn, Mass.; another collected through the First National Bank of Birmingham, Pittsburg, Pa. Nos. 70,293 and 98,476, drew each $6,000 and were held in New Orleans and Cincinnati, O. &c. & The whole thing will be repeated again on April 14th, of which M. A. Dauphin, New Orleans, La., will give all information on application.

The following is from the Frankfort Capital: "Hon. David Poole, of Rocker-feller, Butler County, and State Senator from that district, was married on Wednesday afternoon at four o'clock, at the Capital Hotel, to Miss Etta Prather, sister of Hon. W. V. Prather, Clerk of the Kentucky Senate. The marriage was witnessed by quite a gathering of friends of the parties, and was celebrated by Rev. Mr. Bagby, of the Baptist Church, in a brief, but impressive and graceful manner. Miss Prather's friends claim for her all those admirable qualities which enter into the composition of an admirable wife. Senator Poole, outside of his efficiency and probity as a Legislator, is a gentleman of the greatest vanity and pleasure, and in every respect a most excellent gentleman and citizen. The Capital earnestly wishes for its friend and his excellent wife all the happiness with which a kind Providence may reward their pathway. Mr. and Mrs. Poole left immediately for Louisville, en route to their home in Rochester, Butler County."

The many friends of the bride in this neighborhood extend their hearty congratulations and best wishes.

"Fizzled Out."

This was what a once prosperous merchant said to himself, the other day. His business had faded out, credit was gone, and the sheriff had sold his goods. The trouble proceeded from a prolonged attack of dyspepsia, which prostrated and unsettled him so that he could not attend to his affairs. Pity he hadn't thought of Brown's Iron Bitters, which would have saved him. Mr. A. J. Lawler, 172 S. Broadway, Baltimore, says, "Malaria and dyspepsia troubled me for nine years. Brown's Iron Bitters gave me relief."

Runyon & Hocker announce the receipt of the largest and handsomest stock of white goods and embroideries that they have ever had the pleasure of showing, at the lowest prices in the city. Call and see them.
